Dubai World Trade Center

www.tpo.ir

History

Iran Export Promotion Center was founded in 1967 and was renamed Trade Promotion Organization of Iran in 2004 after its merger with Foreign Trade Department of the Ministry of Commerce and the Goods Procurement Center (Bill No. 30765fT 31056 dated July 2004). In January 2004 the Council of Ministers assigned TPO as the main organization responsible for export of non-oil products and was set as the benchmark and reference for all organizations institutes and governmental departments acting in commerce, trade and services sectors

Goals

- Promoting foreign trade, marketing, advertising, and extending global markets for the country's products and services
- Providing facilities to promote trade agencies and support their capabilities in order to develop non-oil products export and to gain a positive trade balance
- Offering trade information services and facilities in order to eliminate unnecessary official procedures
- Designing and implementing legislations and regulations for trade activities and developing mutual and regional cooperation with other countries.
- Providing facilities and supports for export development and enhancing quality of products and services.

Mission Statement

The Trade Promotion Organization of Iran is an active, cooperation-oriented and scientific-based organization established to meet the country's capital strategy and is aimed at developing and supporting foreign trade and accessing new markets in an effective and efficient manner. This organization is committed to establishing constructive mutual conducts with trade partners and their beneficiaries and focusing on efficient human resources development and use of advanced technology. To support export plans and trade infrastructure, the organization has concentrated on effective planning and strategies and overall supervision.

Strategies

- Promoting export and foreign trade
- Developing export culture and foreign trade
- Promoting a positive trade balance
- Planning and supervising over foreign trade promotion
- Promoting efficiency and productivity of organization human resources

Salts are an energy source and are considered to be the best food for those times when the body needs more energy. Including these salts is a date sap.

Date sauce has the same date properties. It contains phosphorus and iron, which consumes it at breakfast, which activates nerve cells and prevents anemia in humans. Date sap relieves rheumatic pains and arterial and venous diseases.

Heavenly Ugly Onions!

Once upon a time a sad and poor girl, who took care of her little brothers and sisters instead of her mother. She went to buy bread for her hungry siblings. On the way, while she was thinking how she could feed them with the only loaf of bread, she saw an old woman who was dying of hunger. She gave his bread to the old lady.

After eating the bread, the lady gave the girl a basket of things similar to onions and said: My daughter, these ugly onions have been sent to you from heaven. In order not to upset the old woman, the girl took the onions. When she arrived home, she carelessly threw the onions into the garden of her house. A few weeks later, in the morning she had a saffron garden. This magical garden rescued her from poverty. A few years later, she was not only rich, but she had hired some poor persons and rescued them from poverty. Later on, as her saffron rescued the young king from depression, she became the Queen.
